A new way to showcase your brand and message to business customers

Other check packages only deliver checks. Harland Clarke's CheckFolio® check packaging delivers quality check products plus package customization options that broaden your brand recognition opportunities — all without tapping into your marketing budget.

Engage your business customers, reinforce your brand, and put your check packaging to work for you. With your financial institution's custom artwork, logo and messaging, your check packaging instantly pulls double duty as a hard-working marketing tool. In addition, our CheckFolio delivers high message visibility, frequency and longevity — an impression is made every time a customer writes a business check or accesses a new check pad, repeating over the lifetime of the check order.

We've invested in your success

From state-of-the-art JetStream® print technology, to the first-in-industry mobile security and anti-fraud check protection advancements, we help you meet the diverse needs of your business customers. That's why we've invested $100 million in print production technology, for personalization and customization printing capabilities that are second to none. For you, this translates to stronger branding and increased business customer engagement opportunities.
